Office of the Director

March 29, 1944

Miss Frances E. Anderson,
Librarian,
Edmonds Public Library,
Edmonds, Washington.

Dear Miss Anderson:

We have sent your name in to the A.C.McClurg Company as a member of the Western Joint Purchase Agreement. Your orders should receive the discounts provided under the plan.

Please remember to indicate conspicuously on your orders to McClurg that you are a member of the Agreement. This firm operates on a mass-production basis, and because it handles so very many orders every day, it will always help at both ends if orders are prepared with the maximum of care and clarity. When last I had an opportunity to speak with the manager of McClurg's Library Department, he had much to say about the difficulties that have arisen because of staff turnover. The implication for us is that the carefully prepared order is the one that receives the promptest attention.

McClurg's have an excellent reputation among librarians for good service. We have had no indication that they have not been rendering their usual good service to the members of our plan here in the Northwest, even though they are now operating under war-time difficulties. However, members of the plan must realize that because of the present difficulties they must not be too quick to pass judgment on a new book dealer. It is our firm conviction that, in the long run, McClurg can render as good or better service than any agency willing to offer comparable discounts.

We hope you will write us sometime reporting on your experience and your relations with McClurg.

Yours very truly,

Ralph T. Esterquest

Dear Mrs. Strance:

According to our telephone conversation, I am leaving the vouchers in your care. George Hall has signed his. However, I was unable to get the bill for the light. Mrs. Dustin said that she would clip it to the voucher when it came.

The vouchers are made out in duplicate, and I hope that they are all right. The ones for Sater and Ridenour, George Hall, and Puget Sound Power & Light need the signatures of Library Board members.

The duplicate vouchers have the month penciled at the top on the outside.

Thank you so much for your kindness.

Edith Jennings

(over)

Puget Sound Power & Light Voucher will need the amount filled in on both vouchers, (original and duplicate)
